The UK Tech industry

UK Tech News reports on the number of IT job vacancies in England and Wales which has 'surpassed pre-pandemic levels'. According to recruitment consultancy Robert Walters their data finds that IT professionals grew by 105% on 2020 levels.

J P Morgan posted the most IT vacancies in 2021 with over 2,600 IT professional vacancies. A notable 151.5% increase was found in IT Support roles. London is still an attractive hub with 47,5% of new jobs, but the South came in with the second highest number of IT jobs with a 95% YoY increase and accounting for 26% of all IT roles.

Changing trends and recent shortages in the labour market, UK: 2016 to 2021

ONS have published a report on the changing trends and recent shortages in the labour market between 2016 and 2021. The main findings were:

- With a record 1.2 million job vacancies in the three months to November 2021, more than half of businesses who reported a worker shortage stated they were unable to meet demands.
- Employment fell by 466,000 (1.4%) in the year ending September 2021, largely driven by younger workers (the number of workers aged 16 to 24 years fell by 201,000) and elementary occupations; employment had previously been rising by 0.9% on average in the four years prior.
- The average age of those in employment has increased, with the number of younger workers (aged 16 to 34 years) falling by 2.5%, compared with the number of those aged 50 years and over falling 0.8% in the year ending September 2021.
- In Quarter 2 (Apr to June) 2021, the majority (89.5%) of workers with a job a year ago remained in the same occupation major group, while 5.6% moved occupation, 1.5% became unemployed and 3.2% became economically inactive; this was broadly the same across the years from 2016.
- Younger workers (aged under 35 years) were more transient in the workforce, with a high number moving from a job or business and into unemployment in Quarter 2 2020 at the start of the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.
- Inactivity for workers aged 55 years and over increased in the early stages of the pandemic (Quarter 2 2020), and while movements to inactivity were lower in the same quarter in 2021, it remained higher than in 2019 before the pandemic.
- The movement of workers into redundancy (including voluntary redundancies) in Quarter 2 2021 nearly doubled for those aged 55 years and over, compared with the previous year; early retirement also saw an increase during this period.

LONDON NEWS

London's recruitment levels are booming

Business Live report that London's recruitment levels are recovering well and are now 40 per cent higher than before the pandemic. In particular, the financial sector is enjoying 'real growth' with over 32,000 Financial Services jobs created in 2021 in London (an 118% increase on 2020).

BT to recruit hundreds of apprentices and graduates

Business Live report that BT are to hire 600 apprentices and graduates later this year in a number of locations including London. The roles will be in engineering, customer service, applied research and cyber-security.

The London labour market

The latest figures released by ONS for the London labour market have been released. The main points are:

- The total number of pay-rolled employees rose by around 22,600 in London, or 0.5%, between December and January 2022 and is 0.4% above pre-pandemic (February 2020) levels.
- Employee growth varies by sector. Despite recent increases, pay-rolled employee numbers in sectors such as Hospitality (-10.1%) and Arts & recreation (-5.1%) remain lower than February 2020 levels.
- The employment rate in London was estimated at 75.9% for the three months ending December 2021, up 0.8 percentage points (pp) on the previous quarter and up 1.5pp on the same period in the previous year. London's employment rate is now slightly higher than the UK average (75.5%).
- The unemployment rate continued to fall from its pandemic peak but is still higher than the UK average. London's unemployment rate was estimated at 5.2%, down 0.5pp on the quarter and down 2.1pp from a year earlier. The UK average was 4.1%.

- London's inactivity rate (the measure of those not looking and/or not available to work) was estimated at 19.8%. While this was up 0.2pp on the previous year, the inactivity rate fell 0.6pp on the previous quarter and remains lower than the UK-wide estimate of 21.2%.
